

The Natural Power of Being a Woman

One Day

Next Date TBA 9:30am – 5:30pm

Desiring being loved is a healthy, natural longing.

Being empowered, supported, coddled, soothed, known and understood are experiences we want from someone who loves us and is there for on a regular basis. We want unconditional love and we certainly deserve to have it.

It is said that in order to receive love from someone else we need to love ourselves. We need to create an environment in which love coming from someone else can find its way to us, to our hearts, and be experienced through our whole being. We need to create this pathway by loving ourselves.

Creating this environment where love can find us is the subject of our day. Through conversation, deep reflection and visualizations we will develop a route through which we can attract the unconditional love we deserve and desire.

Bring with you

a notebook

a photo of you as a little girl

a description of what unconditional love would be like for you (please take time and consider this deeply)
