The Armor of Amour — What's Between You and the Love You Want

We all have psychological armor that we have created to protect us from being hurt and having our hearts broken one more time. However, it may also be stopping us from having what we want in our lives such as ease, support, more intimacy, and lasting, reliable, unconditional love. Like a medieval knight, perhaps, in addition to protecting us the armor is weighing us down and could be replaced with more discreet, efficient, modern protection. This evening we will investigate the various styles of armor and see if there are better ways to take care of ourselves. We will talk about replacing what doesn't work with protection that does...so we can have more of what we want — everyday.

Join us to uncover new discoveries and observations on how to live with more satisfaction and ease. This evening is designed to welcome and introduce guests to Life Works as well as deepen, enrich and review focal points of the Workshop for graduates.

Goal: To discover if Life Works is the place for you to explore having more of what you want in life. Guests are invited to spend the evening with people who have completed our courses. If you have friends or family who are interested in the workshops, please invite them.

When: Wednesday, September 15 from 7:30pm to 9:00pm

Where: Life Works Offices, 55 Fifth Avenue (bet. 12th & 13th Streets)
